

DECLARATION OF OWNERSHIP AND AI-ASSISTED WORK PRODUCT PROVENANCE

Private record — retain with business documents. Not for publication.

1. DECLARANT

I, Jacob Walton (“Declarant”), operating the trading-education business known as The Greenprint (thegreenprint.trade), make this declaration to memorialize the ownership, creation history, and AI-assistance provenance of the business assets described below.

2. ASSETS COVERED

This declaration covers, without limitation: the domain and website thegreenprint.trade and all of its pages and functionality (including the home page, onboarding flows, live-streaming studio and viewer pages, meeting platform, scanner, dashboard, and member app); the associated source code repository (github.com/thegreenprint/thegreenprint); “The Greenprint” brand, name, logo, and visual identity; all written, video, and audio content published under the brand; the member and subscriber email lists; the “GP AI” automated chat assistant; and all associated marketing materials and documents (collectively, the “Assets”).

3. CREATION AND DIRECTION

The Assets were created at my direction, at my expense, and under my continuous editorial control. Portions of the Assets were produced with the assistance of artificial-intelligence tools, including Anthropic’s Claude (via the Claude desktop application and related developer tooling) for software development, design, and copy, and Higgsfield AI for certain generated media. In every case, I selected the objectives, supplied the business information, gave the creative and functional direction, reviewed the output, and made the decision to adopt, modify, or reject it. All adopted output was published by me as my own commissioned work product for my business.

4. CLAIM OF OWNERSHIP

To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, I claim and assert all right, title, and interest in and to the Assets, including all copyright, trademark, trade-secret, and other intellectual-property rights that subsist in them, regardless of the tools used in their production. Where any element may be deemed ineligible for a particular form of protection due to the manner of its creation, I nonetheless assert ownership and exclusive commercial rights in the selection, arrangement, compilation, and business use of all such elements, and in the human-authored contributions and direction embodied in them.

5. COMMERCIAL USE

The Assets are used in commerce by me for education, community membership, live streaming, meetings, and related paid offerings. This commercial use began in or before 2026 and is continuous. Third parties are not authorized to copy, redistribute, or use the Assets — including for the training of machine-learning systems — without my written permission, as stated in the platform’s public Terms of Service.

6. RECORDS

Supporting records include: the version-controlled source repository with dated commit history; the domain registration; hosting and deployment records (Vercel); service accounts (LiveKit, Firebase, Resend, Whop); and the master subscriber list maintained with the business files. These independently corroborate the dates and continuity of creation and use.

7. INTENT

This declaration is made so that a contemporaneous, dated record exists of the provenance of the Assets, including their AI-assisted elements, in anticipation of evolving laws and regulations governing artificial intelligence, intellectual property, and online commerce. It is a statement of fact and claim of right; it is not legal advice and does not limit any rights I may otherwise hold.
